

"Resolved, the Duke Graduate and Professional Student Council affirms:

1. Despite the rule change proposed by the Trump Administration National Labor Relations Board, graduate student workers have a right to come together and act collectively to improve their working conditions by forming a union.
2. And that the Duke Graduate Students Union has a right to collectively bargain for a fair contract that provides workplace protections, just pay, and suitable benefits for graduate student workers."